

Koboro Station - Koboro Cave Route

Being certified to reach an unexplored site after strenuous trail walking

Take a local train to JR Koboro Station, Japan's best spot off the track. Then, walk down a lush-green bush path to Koboro Cave, where a Buddha statue made by a Buddha priest Enku used to be offered. Please wear the clothing and shoes suitable for a rough walk as you hike the steep slopes alongside the stream. Also, be careful not to miss one of the very few trains back home.

Course length
0.8km 50min

You must plan an itinerary by considering train schedules and travel route. Please refer to the back of this map to obtain information on the JR Hokkaido railway and getting a certificate.
